Fortune Magazine Recognizes Regal Beloit's Growth

Beloit, WI – Regal Beloit (NYSE:RBC) has been named one of “America's Fastest Growing Companies” by Fortune Magazine. The September 17, 2007 issue lists the top 100 fastest growing companies, placing RBC at number 98. Other notable companies on the list include Apple, Netflix and Dress Barn. To view the full list, click here.

Regal Beloit expects to continue its strong pace of growth, both organically and through acquisitions. The recently completed acquisitions of Fasco and Jakel, Inc. build on RBC's long and successful track record of integrating new business units into its family of companies. Regal Beloit's growth is outpacing not only its rivals in the manufacturing sector, but also many healthcare, energy and technology companies as well.

How Fortune Creates the List

To qualify for this year's listing, each company had to meet specific financial and operational criteria. Regal Beloit's market capitalization of $1.65 billion exceeded the minimum requirement, as did its revenue of $1.64 billion and net income of $112.8 million for past four quarters.

To determine the final order of the list, all companies that meet the criteria were ranked according to their revenue growth rate, their EPS growth rate, and their three-year annualized total return to investors for the period ended June 30, 2007. The overall rank is based on the sum of the three ranks. Regal Beloit's had a revenue growth rate of 44%, an EPS growth rate of 55%, and a three-year annualized return of 30%.
